What is

Entrepreneurship?

Key Differences

Introduction to Entrepreneurship

Entrepreneurship has become increasingly important for businesses of all sizes around the world.

It opens new opportunities and possibilities for the businesses to create values for themselves and for the society at large.

Despite its popularity, studies suggest that the scope of entrepreneurship remains unknown, and therefore the prospects of entrepreneurial activities remains not fully realised.

This chapter highlights some aspects concerning the concept of entrepreneur, entrepreneurship, entrepreneurial process and finally the entrepreneurship opportunities and challenges.

Introduction to Entrepreneurship

Concept of Entrepreneur

An entrepreneur is a person who starts an enterprise and converts a situation into opportunity.

He/she searches for change and responds to it. A number of definitions have been given of an entrepreneur. The economists view him/her as the fourth factor of production, along with land Labour and capital.

- He/she has the initiative, skill for innovation and who looks for high achievements.
- He/she is a catalytic agent of change and works for the good of people.
- He/she puts up new green field projects that create wealth, opens up many employment opportunities and leads to growth of other sectors.

Introduction to Entrepreneurship

ENTREPRENEUR is a person who:

- Develops and owns his own enterprise.
- Is a moderate risk taker and works under uncertainty for achieving the goal.
- Is innovative.
- Is a persuader of deviant pursuits.
- Reflects a strong urge to be independent.
- Persistently tries to do something better.
- Is dissatisfied with routine activities.
- Is prepared to withstand the hard life.
- Is determined, but patient.
- Exhibits a sense of leadership.
- Exhibits a sense of competitiveness.
- Takes personal responsibility.
- Is oriented towards the future.
- Tends to persist in the face of adversity

Introduction to Entrepreneurship

Nevertheless, we discussed the concept of entrepreneur earlier, though there are penalty of definitions for this concept, which are illustrated below:

Definitions of an entrepreneur

Richard Cantillon: As a person, who pays a certain price to a product to resell it at an uncertain price, thereby making decisions about obtaining and using the resources while consequently admitting the risk of enterprise.

Adam Smith: An individual, who undertakes the formation of an organization for commercial purposes by recognizing the potential demand for goods and services, and there by acts as an economic agent and transforms demand into supply.

Introduction to Entrepreneurship

Definitions of an entrepreneur

Joseph Schumpeter: Entrepreneurs are innovators, who use the process of entrepreneurship to shatter the status quo of the existing products and services, to set new products, new services. He describes entrepreneurs as innovators.

Peter F. Drucker: An entrepreneur is one who always searches for changes, responds to it and exploits it as an opportunity. He believes in increasing the value and consumer satisfaction. Thus, a professional manager who mobilizes resources and allocates them to make a commercial gain from an opportunity, is also called an entrepreneur.

Introduction to Entrepreneurship

Enterprise

An entrepreneur is a person who starts an enterprise. The process of creation is called entrepreneurship. The entrepreneur is the actor and entrepreneurship is the act. The outcome of the actor and the act, is called the enterprise. An enterprise is the business organization that is formed and which provides goods and services, creates jobs, contributes to national income, exports and contributes to the overall economic development.

The Entrepreneur : A Distinctive Profile

The Entrepreneur : A Distinctive Profile

Are there any common features between Entrepreneurs despite the differences in time and location?

Yes, an Entrepreneur should have the characteristics and features of a Leader, Initiator, Inventor, Planner, Definitive, Risk taker, Confident, Committed, Time Oriented, Curious and Flexible.

A person is silhouetted against a bright sunset sky, rappelling down a dark cliff face. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a strong glow and reflecting on the water below. The person is wearing a helmet and harness, and is holding onto a rope. The background shows a calm sea and a sky with scattered clouds.

YOU NEVER GIVE UP

The Entrepreneur : A Distinctive Profile

Is the Entrepreneur born or made?

There is no need to be born as an Entrepreneur, but more importantly to have the virtues and characteristics of an entrepreneur.

For example, don't wait to catch business opportunities. You have to create them out of nothing. It is time to be the 'opportunity' maker.

The Benefits of Entrepreneurship

The Benefits of Entrepreneur:

- Entrepreneurs make the decisions and at the end of the day they are their own boss. They decide what time is for work and what time is for play.
- Successful entrepreneurs are able to provide financial support for themselves and their families. Sometimes they earn more (or even a lot more) than normal employees.
- It offers a certain prestige or status as being someone responsible, who has a vision, passion and dedication for an idea.
- The entrepreneur has the opportunity to build equity, which can be kept, sold, or passed on to a younger generation.
